In the course of the debate on the bill some objections were raised on account of the expense of the change. Premier Dupuy, in answering the objections, said that the change was necessary and advantageous, and would tend to lighten the bonds of friendship between the two countries and emphasize the desire to live on a footing of mutual sympathy which the community of origin of the two governments explained and justified in every way. U. S. PHILANTHROPY.

Sir Charles Russell Ridicules the Professions of the Americans in the Matter of Sealing.

PARIS, May 10.—Attorney-General Sir Charles Russell, of the counsel for Great Britain before the Behring Sea tribunal of arbitration, began his address to-day on behalf of the British case. The court-room was thronged with British and American residents of Paris and visitors from abroad. He urged that the method of sealing on the Pribyloff Islands was more destructive and more cruel than pelagic sealing. He ridiculed the professions of the United States that they were acting in this matter in a spirit of humanity. Pelagic sealing, he said, was due to the enormous tax imposed by the United States upon the lessees of the seal islands. He meant no offence to his friends on the other side of the case, but he asked that all the members of the tribunal rid their minds of cant and face the question without any lofty talk of philanthropy. Referring to Canada's intervention in the Behring Sea negotiations, Sir Charles remarked that as the American colonists were not silent regarding Imperial measures affecting themselves, when Lord North was the Salisbury of the period, but vigorously asserted the colonies right to speak, so that they should not reproach Canada when she acted similarly. He indignantly repudiated the charges inpugning the impartiality of the British commissioners.

Sir Charles said he would not discuss the modus vivendi regulations, but absolutely denied the existence of property right in wild animals. He expressed the willingness of Great Britain to join in regulations benefitting nations generally, but not such as to benefit Americans exclusively. He condemned the American exaggerations regarding the value of the sealing industry, and defined international law to be such principles as are acquiesced in by nations, but no nation was bound by a principle until it was accepted. He defined the powers of the tribunal to be to apply recognized international law to the pending dispute, and justified Canada's intervention in negotiations. He produced evidence to show that the Alaska catch of late years had contained many female skins. Replying to Mr. Morgan, counsel explained that the reference to the Newfoundland bank fisheries in the Anglo-American treaty of 1883, acknowledged no property in fish such as was now claimed in seals, and showed that the American Government obtained forty-two shillings royalty on each skin, saying that if the seals were, as alleged, a trust for the benefit of mankind it was at the highest market price.

HARRIS' LAST STATEMENT.

He Maintained That He was Innocent of the Crime of Wife Murder.

ALBANY, N.Y., May 10.—The remains of Carlyle W. Harris were buried here yesterday afternoon. After the burial Harris' last statement was sent by the warden to the prison department of the state. Harris in this, his last writing, opened with reference to the review of his case by the governor. He canvasses the review, refers to his giving himself up when he learned of the warrant for his arrest, recurs to his refusal of the proffered means of escape from Sing Sing, and then says regarding the refusal of executive clemency:

"The action of the court was not justified by the facts in the case, and hence the public outcry must be silenced by a seeming justification of the court outside of the facts. There is an idea in the minds of many that at the time of my wife's death I desired a marriage with some other woman. Such a person I never found, nor does she exist. No one had so many reasons, all based on a sentiment of love as the idea, for desiring my wife to live as I had. She would have brought me money and professional success; she would have graced my home, and had I known of her sad habit it would have been my happiness to shield and cure her. May God in His mercy bless and guard those whom I leave behind and leave them peace. And now face to face with the greatest mystery known to man, knowing that no concealment or untruth can miligate my end, I do solemnly declare that I am innocent of the crime for which I am to die."

CAPITAL NOTES.

(From our own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, May 10.—Two changes in the Bisley team are announced to-day. Ellis and Short, of the Ottawa Guards, have resigned their positions on the team and their places will be taken by Shearing, of Sherbrooke, and Case, of the Halifax Garrison Artillery. Shearing has accepted, but Case has yet to be heard from. Hutchinson, of Ottawa, is now the waiting man.

The Department of Trade and Commerce were notified to-day by the High Commissioner that the ruling prices for prime hay in Great Britain run from eighty to a hundred and fifteen shillings. At these prices there is a good margin for Eastern exporters.

So far 117 teams are entered for the rifle league matches. The number is less than last year owing to the fact that the Snider is still used. It is thought next year that the Martini will be adopted in the Dominion matches. The Minister of Militia is carefully studying the question of arming the forces with Martini-Metford rifles. It is probable that Parliament will be asked next session to provide the means.

The contracts for Indian supplies for Manitoba and the territories were awarded to-day. For the first time in its history the department made a stipulation that the bacon must be Canadian cured. Last year showed that the Canadian product was fully equal in quality to the States product, hence the change.

Mr. Sonntum, recently appointed commercial agent for Canada at Christiana, Norway, has received his instructions. He has already entered into arrangements with certain Canadian manufacturers and exporters, to handle for them canned goods, flour, grain, oatmeal, etc., and confidently expects that a good trade can be built up between Canada and Scandinavia. Mr. Sonntum will furnish information to Canadian producers as to the goods which are likely to find a ready market in Norway, Sweden and Denmark, and will also report quarterly to the Department of Trade and Commerce as to the trend of trade.

A deputation of manufacturers of Portland cement interviewed Hon. Mr. Foster to-day, to urge that there be no change in the duty as asked by certain Toronto importers. They say if the duty is retained there is a good prospect of capturing the whole market for the Canadian product, which is just getting on its feet.

Twenty clerks who have been engaged in the census branch since the work was undertaken, received their conge yesterday.

Hon. Messrs. Haggart and Patterson left for the Northwest to-night via Toronto. They will be joined in the Queen City by Messrs. McLaren and Montague. They expect to be away a month.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

MONTREAL, May 10.—At the annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific railway, held to-day, 314,696 shares were represented, and the proceedings were unanimous throughout. The reports show gross earnings for the year 1892, to have been $21,409,352, and the expenditure, $12,989,004; net earnings, $8,420,348, and interest earned on deposits on loans, $203,603. The fixed charges were $5,102,018; leaving a surplus for the year after paying dividends of $2 921,932, and an accumulated surplus of $6,923,531. The increase in profits from working, including interest earned, was $614,291. The land sales for the year were 392,467 acres for $1,355,618 against 97,240 acres for $414,945 last year. The net townsite sales were $345,552. The directors say there is an increase in the acreage ready for crop of over 30 per cent. in the North West, which gives promise of a large traffic after next harvest.

The past winter has been the most difficult within the experience of the company and results of working have consequently compared at a disadvantage. Among other improvements reported are 551 wooden bridges replaced with permanent work during the year. The directors, who recommend further improvements and additional rolling stock, say: "The improvements and permanent additions to your property of this and a similar character are necessary to the healthy and continuous development and retention of traffic and expenditures for these purposes will not cease so long as they continue to prosper. These expenditures must be made either from profit or from new capital. The directors hold that the annual profits after providing for a reasonable reserve fund, should be divided among the shareholders, and that additions and improvements to the property should be provided for by new capital."

The former officers of the Board were re-elected.

Inadequate Protection for Exhibits—Death of an English Officer—The Spanish Admiral Dead—Blarney Castle.

CHICAGO, May 10.—A shadow has been cast over the English military colony at Fortessaal's, corner of Sixteenth and State streets, by the sudden death of Captain Edward Wm. D. Croker, of the 93rd (Gordon) Highlanders, the adjutant of the tournament. He had a severe fall from his horse during the performance on Monday evening, causing internal injuries, from which he died shortly after midnight this morning. Capt. Croker was a son of Captain Edward Croker and Lady Georgina Croker, of Ballynagode, County Limerick. He was a cousin of the present Earl of Clancarty and a nephew of Viscount Monck. He was given a full military funeral, which took place at Graceland this afternoon.

A good programme was carried out in the hall, all the musicians, harpers, pipers and jig dancers, being of the "Ould Sod." The different booths and cottages were crowded with invited guests, sightseeing, talking to the Irishmen and girls, and buying the wares for which Lord and Lady Aberdeen want to find a permanent market in this country.

NELSON.

(From the Miner.)

There is every reason to believe that the Salmon river gold fields will have their quota of prospectors and miners this summer. Two Nelson men—Ike Lougheed and Mike Molloy—returned from a trip up the Salmon this week. There are operators at work upon at least half a dozen claims already. The Mizner brothers have discovered a quartz ledge near Hill's bar. A special piece of the rock went as high as $150 and the whole averages $30 in gold to the ton.

Two young men from C. E. Perry's party at Duncan city report that there are fully two hundred prospectors now on their way up the river, and that every day adds to the number.

Another transfer of Trail Creek property was completed last week. This time it is one-half interest in the Homestake claim, at Trail Creek Forks, which was purchased by C. A. Teasdale from Michael Landrigan, the sale being negotiated by A. B. Railton. The other half interest is owned by Oliver Bordeaux, who will join Mr. Teasdale in development of the property. The Homestake is located at the forks of Trail creek, about five miles from the Columbia river. The proposed railway line runs within one-half mile of the claim. A shaft was sunk last year and several tons of ore taken out, leaving the drift in eight feet of solid ore. The ore carries from $1 to $6 in gold, and about $15 in silver per ton, concentrating nearly three in one, and giving a value of $40 to $56 per ton. Picked samples of the ore have assayed $30 in gold and 76 ounces of silver per ton.

The result of the canvass for subscriptions for the public hospital is most satisfactory, nearly $2,000 having been subscribed. It is proposed to call for tenders in three ways, for the building complete, for the main building only, and for the main building with one wing. The directors have decided to open a hospital at once, renting a building until such time as the new one can be made ready for use, making application for the $1,000 appropriation voted by the Legislature last year. The first directors have called a meeting of contributors for May 20, to secure the election of permanent directors.

(From the Nelson Tribune.)

The English company that now own the hydraulic claims on Wild Horse creek, four miles from Fort Steele, have purchased 1,800 feet of 6 and 12 inch steel pipe, and two No. 2 Little Giant pumps, and expect to take out $1,000 a day when they get everything in working order.

The Kaslo Townsite company announce that they will build two or three wharves at that place. The dangerous log float was completely wrecked by the storm last Saturday, so that until the company erects suitable wharves, steamboats can land on the sandy beach, as the siwash canoes did in the days gone by.

A. L. Davenport says the Poorman mill will be started up within a couple of weeks and a run made on the 100 tons of ore extracted last winter. It is not likely that any other work will be done this summer, although arrangements had been made to extend the main tunnel 400 feet.

Papers relating to the bonding of the interests of S. M. and G. C. Wharton in the Ruceau, New Denver, Epram, Texas and Clifton claims, by Patrick Clark, of Spokane, have been recorded here. The consideration is just short of $31,000, with a contingency in the event of the claims being stocked. Frank Culver and G. Fairbairn have purchased Tom Ardeil's interest in the Cazubazua; consideration $5,000.

At the Washington mine the upper tunnel has been pushed 300 feet, while a shaft from the same has been sunk sixty feet. The lower tunnel is in 115. At present thirty-eight men are working, and up to now about six tons a day have been shipped, but from now on for awhile the ore will be dumped until all danger from snowslides on the trail is over.

John Tolson and J. J. McNaughten are back in Nelson from a prospecting trip to the upper end of Houser lake. They did not find anything more than barren ledges, and report the snow too deep to admit of prospecting back in the mountains. A party of Swedes recently discovered a gold ledge and located a claim or two. The ground is situate almost four miles above Duncan City and back half a mile from the lake. One of the party sold half his interest, in Kaslo, to a man from Spokane for $500 cash. Quite a number of men are going into that country, but it is fully six weeks too early.

Larson & Co., who have the contract for building the Nelson & Fort Sheppard, a railway that will give the Kootenay lake country communication with the outside world the year round, have one right-of-way and two grading camps established on the south end of the line. Hugh McLeod, their purchasing agent, was in Nelson this week picking up everything obtainable in the way of material and supplies, ordering them to be shipped to Fort Sheppard and the mouth of Beaver creek, now known as Sayward. The chief camp and base of supplies is to be at the latter place, where a couple of warehouse buildings are in course of construction. The piers for the Pend d'Oreille bridge are nearing completion. From the foundations up they are iron cylinders filled with concrete.

BOARD AND LODGING.

Elaborate Preparations Made for Taking Care of Visitors—The Rates.

Many complaints have been made of extortionate charges for rooms and board in that part of the city nearest to Jackson Park, Chicago. There is probably some basis for the charges, but the cost of living in Chicago has been high for several years. So many people have been drawn there by new business enterprises that the population has grown more rapidly than the accommodations.

Rents have advanced proportionately, and, as is always the case in large cities, the cost of food is very much larger than in smaller cities or in the country. There has not been a general conspiracy to fleece the visitors during the summer. So far as the large hotels are concerned, about the only difference in the rates is the rule that rooms must be occupied by two persons or paid for by one at nearly the rate for two.

Some American hotels have been turned into European hotels for the summer season. This is really in favor of the guests, who can obtain his meals wherever he happens to be. In one down-town district there are scores of hotels whose prices range from those in the first class at $4 a day and upwards down through easy grades to clean, respectable hotels, that advertise to furnish rooms and board at $2 to $3 a day, and hotels that furnish rooms alone at $1 per day. Thousands will come with lodgings provided for beforehand. Thousands of others, it has been suggested, will seek shelter in hotels the first day of their arrival, and then rent furnished lodgings or go to boarding houses for the remainder of their stay.

Lodgings can be had in private houses on the North and West sides from $10 to $25 a month. There are numerous good restaurants in all parts of the city where meals can be obtained for from 25 to 50 cents. Flats, containing five to eight rooms, are renting for from $50 to $250 a month, both furnished and unfurnished.

Visitors who stop in the vicinity of Jackson park will find accommodations provided to feed a multitude. Nearly all, if not all, of these hotels will be equipped with restaurants or dining rooms. To them must be added the restaurants in the fair grounds, those on the Midway Plaisance, and the hundreds which will be opened in the district contiguous to Jackson park. Visitors may have their choice among thirty-five places to dine in the grounds. The concession held by the Wellington Catering company provides for three classes of restaurants. The first will include restaurants of the highest rank, equal to any in the city. The second grade provides for what may be called popular restaurants, with prices on a low scale. The third class takes in lunch counters and buffets, where cold meats, sandwiches, pies, cakes and coffee will be served. There will be one and one-half miles of lunch counters.

Among the larger restaurants are the great White Hart Inn and the Columbian Casino. The first occupies a building which is a reproduction of the hostelry made famous by Dickens. It is situated south of Machinery hall. The cooking will be strictly English. On the first floor of the inn anything from a ham sandwich to a two-dollar porterhouse steak will be sold. The second floor will be given up to the finest trade, and will be patterned after the best London clubs.

The Columbian Casino will occupy the Casino, a three-story building at the mouth of the lagoon. The first floor will be fitted up with parlors, reception rooms, lavatories and smoking rooms. On the second floor will be a public dining room, with tables and seats for 1,500 people. There will be a men's cafe on the third floor large enough to accommodate 1,500 diners at once. The "clam-bake" will be one of the novelties of the fair. A three-story building in the northern part of the grounds is occupied for this affair. Old-fashioned New England clam-bake dinners, it is stated, will be served, as well as all sorts of fish. There will be room for 2,500 people at one sitting.

Within the World's Fair grounds 59,400 people can dine at one time next summer. Counting six changes of plates for each place at table, 356,400 meals may be served every day in the fair grounds. Dining places on the Midway Plaisance will have accommodations for 16,000 people at one time. A visitor, among other places, may choose to dine in the natatorium or in cafes overlooking the animals in the Zoological Garden, or in the Hungarian Orpheum, or in the Dutch settlement, the Polish cafe, or the Turkish village. He may be served with familiar viands or may taste the food of strange lands and be waited on by natives of those countries.—Exchange.

IMPERIAL INSTITUTE.

The Procession and Ceremonials Eclipse Anything Seen Since Her Coronation.

LONDON, May 10.—With probably greater pomp and state ceremonial than has attended any state function since the coronation of Queen Victoria, the Imperial Institute in Kensington Gore was formally opened by Her Majesty. Moreover, she caused it to be semi-officially stated that this would be the last occasion upon which she would make a public entry into the metropolis. The day was declared a public holiday, the banks and other financial offices were closed, and business of all kinds, save that of necessity, was suspended in the city. Thousands of Union Jacks and royal standards were thrown to the breeze at daylight. The sky was clear and the air balmy, in fact, a more typical May day could hardly be imagined. All London seemed to have turned itself out at an early hour.

The region of Hyde Park and Kensington Gardens was the great rendezvous of the populace, and to it the masses poured in a stream through a dozen avenues that connected with the farthest corners of the city. Thousands came on foot from Bow, Hackney, Dalston, Shoreditch, Limehouse and Whitechapel, and others of the districts ten to fifteen miles away from the central point of the day's festivities. It was not only the metropolis itself that was represented in the throngs on the streets, but Bristol, Manchester, Birmingham, Sheffield, Glasgow, Edinburg, Dundee, Belfast, Dublin and other cities in the United Kingdom had sent their delegations. The route of the procession was from Buckingham Palace up Constitution hill, around Hyde Park corner into Rotten Row, thence through the Alexandra gate to Exhibition road, on which, between the Royal Albert hall and the Royal College of Music, is the Institute.

The streets through which the royal procession was to pass were lined with gaily decorated grand stands, a few being reserved for private parties, but the majority were open to the public on payment of sixpence. More than half a million of the spectators were thus provided for. The others packed the sidewalks, steps, windows, grass lawns, and wherever else they could get a foothold. At every street intersection a triumphal arch had been erected and at spaces of a few feet strings of flags were stretched across the road, so that the royal procession passed under an almost continuous archway of waving bunting.

Early in the morning the Prince of Wales, who has for several weeks past given personal attention to the arrangements for the event, visited the institute in order to satisfy himself that nothing had been neglected. Not until he had assured himself on this point was the Lord Chamberlain ordered to state that the programme might be proceeded with. It was 11:15 when the booming of cannon from the artillery detachment stationed in St. James' Park stretched out over the territory for miles to the westward announced that the Queen had entered her carriage and that the royal pageant was prepared to move. This was also a signal for the preliminary procession composed of personages who were to receive Her Majesty at the institute, to move from Hyde Park corner, and through the Kensington palace garden to the institute.

There were two processions, one composed of a score of Indian princes in native costume, and escorted by two detachments of cavalry, and the other that of the Lord Mayor, the members of the board of aldermen, and the visiting mayors and corporations from other cities. These arrived at the Institute nearly an hour in advance of the Queen, and were shown to the sections reserved for them in order of precedence. The state carriage in which Her Majesty rode, and which was finished in gold and blue enameling, was drawn by eight cream-colored horses with out-riders in uniforms of scarlet and gold. Two hundred Life Guards in magnificent uniforms, and mounted upon black chargers, cleared the way for the procession. Immediately before the carriage galloped a squad of Indian cavalry. On either side of it, forming a special escort, was a detachment of cavalry from New South Wales, while in the rear was a detachment of horse artillery from Victoria.

Her Majesty was attired in black with bonnet to match, and sat alone on the rear seat of the carriage, facing the horses. In her hand she carried a bouquet of white roses. On the other seat was the Princess Beatrice, in a lavender costume with trimmings of pearl and golden cord. Five other carriages made up the procession. They were occupied by the Prince and Princess of Wales and their children, Prince Henry of Battenberg, and the ladies in waiting on the sovereign, the rear being brought up by the full regiment of the Grenadier Guards. As the Royal carriage passed through the Alexandra gate it was in full sight of the Royal Albert memorial, and here, for a moment, Her Majesty bowed her head upon hands. The entire route from the Palace to the Institute was lined with troops, a military band at every street intersection, which played the national anthem as the procession went past. Behind the troops were the spectators, a sea of faces, men, women and children. When the carriage turned Hyde Park corner, a thousand or more members of the stock exchange, who are Unionists in sentiment, and who occupied a special stand, sang Rule Britannia. A little farther on was a stand occupied exclusively by the American colony. It was decorated with the colors of the United States and Great Britain, and from the front seats the stars and stripes and the Union Jack were waved when the Queen came into view. Her Majesty acknowledged the transatlantic greeting by a graceful inclination of the head.

Another discharge of cannon, this time from Kensington Gardens, announced the arrival of the royal party at the entrance to the Institute. A number of school girls in white frocks had been drawn up on either side of the steps, and with low courtesies they threw flowers at the Queen's feet as she passed up on the arm of the Princess Beatrice. At the main archway she was met by the Prince of Wales and the Lord Chamberlain, who escorted her to the elevator, and thence to the grand hall of the building, 22 feet above the street, and where the invited guests had already assembled. The aisle in the centre hall leading to the dais was lined by Indian and colonial troops, gentlemen-at-arms, yeomen of the guard and trumpeters of state. The latter blew a blast as the approach of the Queen was signalled, and at the same moment the band of 200 pieces under the personal direction of Sir Arthur Sullivan, burst forth with the national anthem. Never before probably had a British sovereign received such a greeting from the people. The roar started the moment the moment the Queen descended the steps of the palace to the carriage, and it could still be heard long after she had passed into the Institute. It was a popular reception in every sense of the word. Myriads of dainty white handkerchiefs fluttered in the air and seemed to keep time with the hoarse cheering of the male spectators, while children tossed out nosegays and baskets full of loose flowers, only to be trampled under the feet of the horses or crushed under the wheels of the royal carriage. At one point in the parade the pathway of the royal party was literally strewn for half a mile with flowers.

The scene which met the eyes of the Queen as she ascended the dais and took her seat in the large golden chair was grand. To her right were arranged the members of the House of Lords and the diplomatic corps; to the left the colonial representatives, the members of the cabinet and of the House of Commons. Immediately in front were the members of the nobility, beyond, the municipal representatives of London and other cities. There were over seven thousand souls in all, and the magnificent uniforms of the members of the diplomatic corps, the picturesque garb of the colonial princes, the gorgeous robes, chains and jewels of office of the mayors and aldermen, the showy dress of the Indian princes, the velvet knee breeches, white hose and buckled shoes of the privy councillors, and the brilliant toilettes of the ladies, the latter making up nearly one-half of the audience, combined to produce an imposing scene. Everything was now in readiness for the ceremony proper. For the second time Sir Arthur Sullivan waved his baton, and the chamber resounded with the strains of the Hallelujah chorus.

As the music died away the Right Hon. and Most Reverend Edward White Benson, Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of all England, attired in full archiepiscopal vestments, advanced before the dais and pronounced an invocation, which concluded with the repeating of the Lord's Prayer by all present in unison. Another selection was rendered by the orchestra, and then the Prince of Wales advanced to the foot of the dais, and, kneeling upon a velvet cushion, read an address to his royal mother. It breathed the loyalty of her subjects, congratulated her upon the continuous prosperity and peace of her reign, referred to the purposes for which the institution was designed, and humbly requested her to dedicate the Institute to the uses of the present and of posperity. As he concluded he placed the address in a golden casket and handed it to the Queen. Her Majesty received it with her right hand, and with her left passed at the same moment to the Lord Chamberlain the manuscript containing her reply. This was read by that functionary. It was very brief, expressing the pleasure which it afforded Her Majesty to comply with the request of her loyal subjects, and the further hope that the Institution would prove a landmark in the present era of advancement.

As the Lord Chamberlain concluded, the Princess Beatrice handed to the Queen a splendid master key, made of precious metals and siudded with jewels. This the Queen applied to the door of the silver model of the Imperial Institute presented to the Prince and Princess of Wales by the citizens of London upon the occasion of their silver wedding. As the key entered into the lock it pressed an electric button, and at the same moment the orchestra struck up the National Anthem, the bells of the institute, manned by ringers from every cathedral in the country, rang out a joyous peal, and a royal salute was fired by the artillery stationed in Hyde park. This concluded the ceremony, and after Her Majesty had greeted several of those present the procession was reformed and she returned to Buckingham palace.

THE HAWAIIAN MINISTRY.

U. S. Commissioner Blount Definitely Appointed to the Position.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The President has appointed James H. Blount, of Georgia, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the Hawaiian Islands, succeeding John Stevens, resigned. Mr. Blount's commission bears date from yesterday, and will be sent him by the next mail for his signature. The appointment was decided on at the cabinet meeting yesterday. A report from Mr. Blount, mailed in Honolulu during the last week in April, came to Secretary Gresham yesterday morning, and was taken by him to the cabinet meeting. Owing to the confidential character of the report it contents are kept secret, but it is presumed that it contained such information that the President determined to lose no time in commissioning a new minister to succeed Minister Stevens.

It had been supposed at the state department that Minister Stevens would remain in charge of the legation until the 24th of this month, at which time he had announced his intention of sailing for San Francisco. There is reason, however, to believe that Mr. Stevens was not allowed to remain in charge of the legation until the 24th inst., because of his activity in behalf of annexation. There is a further statement made that Messrs. Bowen and Sewell, who went to Honolulu shortly after Commissioner Blount's arrival, have been active in their efforts to stimulate sentiment on the islands in favor of annexation, and are thought to have created the impression that in so doing they represented the President.

Secretary Gresham has informed Mr. Blount that the President repudiates everything said and done by these gentlemen. Mr. Sewell was an applicant for the position of assistant secretary of state under the present administration, but failed to secure the appointment. Ex-Minister Stevens will sail for the United States on the 24th inst., and will be accompanied by Mrs. Stevens and Miss Stevens. They will bring with them the body of their daughter, who was drowned early in this year. Letters received by naval officers and others in the Government service, indicate that the Provisional Government maintains a firm hold. One letter states that the native sentiment in favor of annexation is growing.

Small Lot Household Furniture, Stove and Pipes, Cooking Utensils, Crockery, etc., etc.

This Property is within easy distance of many of the most important Gold, Silver and Coal Mines in West Kootenay. The population of this district will increase this year by at least 10,000; the area of farm land is very limited, and from this it may be fairly asserted that beef and all classes of farm produce will find a ready and lucrative market. The soil is the best bottom land, and the locality is one of the few places in the Province where so large a piece of good farm land can be found in one block. A river runs through the property, and rainbow trout are plentiful and afford capital sport. Deer abound in considerable numbers. Bear, Wolf, Coyote and other large game are to be found in the hills. There are two creeks recorded and belonging to the estate, one flows all the year round. Limestone and brick clay are to be had in the valley.

The Gattle are well bred; a much larger herd could be farmed with the place The bunch grass on the hills in the vicinity covers many thousands of acres, and is available to the few land owners in the valleys. All buildings and fences about the farm are in good order, and farming operations can be gone on with at once; about 180 acres of ploughing have been, so far, provided for this year's work.

The Climate is not severe, the land being about 1,100 feet above sea level; the station was for many years the winter quarters of the H. B. Co.'s pack trains. There is a weekly express in and out. Goods and supplies at wholesale can be procured on order and delivered in 48 hours.

The Title is by grant from the Crown, and is free of all encumbrances. Immediate possession can be given.

Important Railway works are now in progress within moderate distance, and two railway lines have been run to pass close to or through the estate, which can be reached in the spring in three days' journey from Victoria.

The South West Kootenay District, British Columbia, judging from the actual ore products of the mines this winter, is destined in the next year or two to become one of the richest and most important mineral centres in the world. Statistics show, that although the district is in its primary stage, the mines have developed ore veins rich enough to warrant the investment of over a million dollars. When these mines come to be worked systematically, there will be an

Influx of Population, which will require beef and farm produce in large quantities. The limited quantity of really good farm land in the district to supply these requirements makes this

THE PREMIER AT WESTMINSTER.

The Hon. Theodore Davie's speech in the Westminster Opera House on Tuesday evening as reported in the News-Advertiser is a calm, clear and convincing statement of the Government's case. Mr. Davie showed that in the matter of redistribution the Government must be guided by official information. He gave the statements of population as received from Ottawa, of which the following is the last:

18th April, 1893.

J. Lowe, Ottawa, to Hon. Theo. Davie, Premier:

Population British Columbia absolutely as follows:. Vancouver Island—Indians, 5,325; Chinese, 3 183; whites, 28,259; total, 36,767. Mainland—Indians, 29,634; Chinese, 5,727; whites, 25,045; total, 61,406.

This authoritative statement was not very acceptable to the audience, but there were the figures, and the Government could not afford to treat them with contempt. They had done the best they could under the circumstances, and had sent the Hon. Mr. Turner to Ottawa in order to get such information relative to the population as will enable the Government in the early part of the next session to bring down a measure of Redistribution, fair to all parts of the Province.

Mr. Davie justified the Government's action in the matter of the Parliament and Departmental building, and he showed by facts and figures that in the distribution of public money, ample justice had been done to the Mainland. The audience gave Mr. Davie a fair hearing. There was a little noise and some interruption at times, but that was to be expected in a political meeting during a period of agitation and excitement.

We are quite sure that the Premier's appeal to the reason and love of fair play of the people of Westminster has not been made in vain. When they have had time to think over what he said on the Government side of the question many among them will be convinced that no injustice has been done to the Mainland, and they, perhaps, may begin to think that their interests are as safe in the hands of Mr. Davie and his colleagues as they would be in those of his opponents. Men who admire courage and open dealing must approve of the course which the Hon. Mr. Davie has taken in this matter of the Mainland agitation. He has met his opponents face to face and said what he had to say with good temper and without reserve.

ON THE WRONG SIDE.

The Times is apparently itching to have a hand in the agitation which is now going on in the Mainland. It accuses the Finance Minister of trying to lead Eastern people astray in regard to the population figures. Mr. Turner quoted no figures but those which are authoritative and those which he and his colleagues are bound to be guided by in the work of redistribution. No one who knows Mr. Turner will suppose for a moment that he would wilfully deceive any man, woman or child in the East or in the West. He is in all his intercourse, official and private, the soul of honor. If the data with which he is supplied by the Dominion Government officials lead him to the conclusion that the population of European origin on the Island is greater than that of the Mainland, what is he to do? Is he to follow the example of his opponents and draw upon his imagination for his statistics, and on this airy foundation build a system of redistribution?

Why is it that the Times places reliance on the theories of the Mainland agitators rather than on the figures of the census officials? Is not Mr. Lowe of Ottawa on such a subject as good an authority as Mr. Brown of Westminster? Which of the two men is the more disinterested and which has the greater opportunity of arriving at the truth with regard to the population of Island and Mainland? We are altogether at a loss to see what our contemporary is driving at. If it rejects the official figures, what are the figures in which it does place confidence? In order that our readers may see for themselves the statements made by the Finance Minister to the representative of the Montreal Gazette, which the Times denounces as misleading, we reproduce them below:—

These men claim that our Government should have carried out its promise of redistribution, and make another grievance out of the vote of $600,000 for public buildings in Victoria. As to the redistribution, Mr. Brown, about four years ago, headed a deputation which waited on the late Premier, Hon. John Robson, to call his attention to the fact that the Mainland had a much larger population than the Island, and was, therefore, entitled to a larger representation in the House. Mr. Robson, in reply, pressed the point that such a redistribution should not be made until after the census had been taken. At this time Mr. Robson fully believed that the population of the Mainland was much the larger. This matter has been regularly pressed by Mr. Brown and others since, on the basis of the great preponderance of the white population on the Mainland, especially in the district of New Westminster, and the present Premier, Hon. Mr. Davie, was so much impressed with this view that in his opening speech he promised redistribution, he having accepted the statements of Mr. Brown and others as correct. But during the session my attention was called to the matter. I personally telegraphed to Ottawa for information as to whether the census bulletin, which gives the population of British Columbia at something under 100 000, included Indians, and the reply came that it did. I also ascertained that there were 29 634 Indians on the Mainland and 5,325 on the Island. This so altered the condition of things from the generally accepted view, as to give the Mainland 2,214 more of a population than the Island, whereas Mr. Brown and his friends had been claiming that the New Westminster district itself had a much larger population than our Island. Since then additional information has been procured with respect to the Chinese population, which was found to be much larger on the Mainland, thus leaving the Island with 2,000 more people than the Mainland. In view of such a condition of affairs, the Government could not undertake a redistribution of seats, especially on the lines proposed by Mr. Brown. As a matter of fact the Mainland, having 17 members and the Island only 16, is over represented.

AN IMPORTANT SPEECH.

The Speech which the Emperor of Germany made on the parade ground on Tuesday, was in many respects a most important one. For the Emperor at the moment of political defeat, to make confidants of the generals of his army and to look to them for sympathy and consolation, is of itself, most significant. It shows more clearly than perhaps anything else could do, the difference there is between the German and the British idea of constitutional government. If a British sovereign should do what the Emperor of Germany has done, a revolution would be precipitated. Leading men of all parties would protest against his act, Ministers would hand in their resignations, and Parliament would hasten strongly to condemn an appeal to the army in any shape against what it had seen fit to do. The British people do not recognize the army as a political element of the constitution. They would not brook for a single moment its interference in matters that are purely political. It is allowable for a British sovereign to appeal from Parliament to the people as the Emperor of Germany has done, but in that appeal the army must be perfectly neutral.

But what would have created a convulsion in the political world of Great Britain does not seem to have excited even surprise in Germany. The Emperor's singular speech to the Generals is reported in the newspapers, and although it has elicited some unfavorable criticism it does not appear to be regarded by either the press or the people as dangerous to constitutional freedom.

The speech is singular in other respects and shows that, in the opinion of the Emperor at any rate, Parliament in Germany exercises its functions by the grace of his Imperial Majesty. The following sentences sound strange to British ears: "I was obliged" says the Emperor, "to dissolve the Reichstag, in the hope that the new Reichstag would pass the bill. I am determined, in case this hope be also disappointed to stake all my power to obtain the enactment of the measure, for I am too thoroughly convinced of its necessity as a guarantee of the peace of Europe to allow it to be finally defeated."

Do the words we have italicised express a threat that the Emperor will have his way whether the Reichstag does what he wishes or not, or does he mean to convey the idea that he will go on dissolving Parliaments until he gets one willing to carry out his wishes with respect to the army? It is impossible to imagine a British sovereign speaking in this way. The speech, particularly when it was addressed to an assemblage of soldiers, would have been construed to mean that the speaker would at any cost carry his measure, whether Parliament approved of his views and projects or not. What the Germans understood the Emperor William to say will be seen by and by.

That there is trouble ahead of the Government of Germany can be easily seen. The masses have begun to feel their power and it is not likely that they will give it up without a struggle. They have disappointed the Emperor in two measures which he had at heart—his Religious Education bill and his Army bill. The former was withdrawn, while the latter was defeated after much deliberation and many attempts on part of the Government to prevail upon the representatives of the people to accept it. In the election contest which is soon to take place, the issue on which the Government was defeated in the Reichstag will be before the people. The indications are that the defeat of the Government at the polls will be more striking and decisive than it was in Parliament. If the Emperor is beaten in the election, if a majority is returned to oppose his policy, what course will he then take? Then will be the time "to stake all his power," and how will he stake it?

It is said that the Emperor believes that he could manage the Reichstag better if it were divided into two great parties. He may be mistaken in this. It is easier, under certain circumstances, to form a combination in favor of or against a particular measure in a House divided into a number of small factions, than it would be in a House composed of two compact, closely-knit parties. In a body so composed it would be next to impossible to convert a majority into a minority. A clever politician would have a far better chance among the factions. It is evident now that the Emperor's party is in a minority in the country, and it is not at all likely that his speech to the Generals will gain him many converts or strengthen him in any way.

PROTESTED HIS INNOCENCE.

Carlyle W. Harris, who was on Monday executed for the murder of his wife, died protesting his innocence. It is a hard thing to say that the man passed into eternity with a lie in his mouth. But men have died declaring their innocence of crimes of which it was afterwards found to an absolute certainty they were guilty. Every chance was afforded this young man to make his innocence clear, if he was innocent. In the first place, judges and juries in these days are most reluctant to convict a man of murder. They are more than ready to give him the benefit of any doubt that might exist. Popular feeling ran strong in favor of the accused man. If the evidence against him had not been so strong that it would have been folly to doubt its conclusiveness, Harris would have escaped death. His first trial lasted three weeks, and every argument that able counsel could construct and every device they could resort to were used to convince the jury that the prisoner was innocent. But they labored in vain. He was, after a short deliberation, found guilty by the jury An appeal was had to the highest court in the State with the result that the verdict of the court below was sustained. Then an application was made for a new trial on the plea that fresh evidence had been found. The application was heard by a competent judge and the newly discovered evidence analyzed. The decision was against Harris. Then every means was used to convince Governor Flower that he was innocent, and pressure was brought to bear upon him to have the man pardoned or his sentence commuted, but the Governor, after giving the case his careful attention, could not see that he would be justified in interfering, so he was compelled to let the law take its course.

Harris' treatment of the young girl whom he had inveigled into a clandestine marriage was mean and heartless in the extreme. The evidence showed that he was an unprincipled scoundrel, who would not stop at any rascality to accomplish his ends. It is evident that deception and falsehood had become habitual with him, so that his denial of his guilt at the last moment of his life was not by any means inconsistent with the course he had been long pursuing.

Funeral of Mrs. MacDonald.

The funeral of the late Mrs. MacDonald, mother of Mrs. Geo. C. Mesher, took place yesterday from the residence of the latter, and from St. John's church, where Rev. Percival Jenns conducted the service for the dead. The funeral was largely attended, and the sympathizing friends who could not be present themselves sent many beautiful floral tokens of their regret.

Bishop Perrin's Plans.

From the Winnipeg dispatch published in the COLONIST yesterday, the public would naturally gather that Rt. Rev. Dr. Perrin will be here next Sunday. Such is not the fact. After spending a few days at Banff, the new bishop will proceed to the Coast, arriving in Victoria on Thursday, May 18, and taking part in a special service at Christ Church cathedral that evening. On Saturday, May 20, the public reception will be held in the Odd Fellows' hall on Douglas street.

Sunday School Union.

All the Episcopal churches, save St. John's, were represented at a meeting of the Sunday School Union held Tuesday evening at the residence of Rev. W. D. Barber, Victoria West. The chief business of the evening was the reading of a paper on "Reverence," by Mr. H. J. Cave, and its subsequent discussion. Reports presented to the meeting showed a gratifying increase of both pupils and teachers in all the schools. The next meeting of the union will be held at Esquimalt.

An Indictable Offence.

Police Magistrate Macrae sat yesterday, in the Provincial police court, to hear a charge against Henry T. Seaton and Arthur Seaton of removing property which was in the hands of the sheriff under execution. The defendants were tenants of Mr. R. T. Williams at James Island, and a short time ago a bailiff took possession for rent. It is alleged that the defendants removed certain property to prevent it being sold, hence the prosecution. Mr. Robert Cassidy appears for Mr. Williams, Mr. Lindley Crease for the defence. The case will be heard to-day, and in the meantime the defendants have been released on $100 bail.

Sons of Erin.

The regular monthly meeting of the Sons of Erin was held in Pioneer hall last evening, when Mr. Cornelius Booth was elected president in place of Dr. Sproule, the first and second vice-presidents declining office in favor of the meeting's nominee. Mr. Booth thanked the society for the honor conferred upon him and assured its members that nothing would be wanting on his part to give them complete satisfaction. It is most satisfactory that the choice has been an unanimous one. The ordinary routine business having been disposed of, a smoking concert was enjoyed by the members present, numbering not less than one hundred. The programme included songs and recitations by several of the most popular city amateurs of the Irish "clan," and the visitors played a prominent part in the entertainment. Among the strange faces were those of Sons of Erin from New Westminster and Vancouver, where lodges have recently been established.

Y. M. C. A.

The reception to the business men given by the directors of the Young Men's Christian Association last evening was well attended. The rooms presented a brilliant appearance, being handsomely decorated for the occasion. Refreshments were amply supplied by the ladies' auxiliary and music furnished by the Hall brothers, Miss Hutcheson and Mrs. Jamieson. An interesting feature of the evening's entertainment was the gymnastic exhibition by the members of the association. The visitors were welcomed by the president, Mr. T. M. Henderson, who, in a brief and pithy address, set forth the objects of the association. The address was responded to by Consul Myers, who dealt with the work of the association, viewed from the standpoint of a business man, showing that the principles which the association aims to inculcate are the basal principles of all financial and worldly sucess, as well as the development of a much higher type of manhood. The Consul continued that the business men of a community realized that in the association they have a safeguard to the community, and he called upon business men to consult their own welfare and rally around the Young Men's Christian Association.

A CHANGE OF FRONT.

The United States Government Return the Schooner Henrietta to Her Owners.

A Port Townsend special of yesterday to the COLONIST says: "According to special advices received from Sitka the Government have adopted a new policy in relation to the prosecution of British sealing vessels in Alaska. Attorney-General Olney has ordered District Attorney Johnson to abandon the prosecution against the British schooner Henrietta, charged with receiving a cargo of seal skins in Alaskan waters last summer without first reporting at the customs. She was seized in Behring Sea and sent to Sitka for trial.

The case is similar in all respects to the seizure of the British steamer Coquitlam by the revenue cutter Corwin last June, and this action, according to the interpretation of local sealing men, seems to indicate that the present Government is receding from the position taken by the preceding administration. District Attorney Johnson has been ordered to deliver the Henrietta to the British authorities on demand.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The Victoria Board Decides on Conditions of the Competition For Plans.

General Business Transacted—Moneys Spent Since the First of the Year.

The regular meeting of the School Board was held last evening at the City Hall, Chairman Hayward presiding, and Trustees Richards, Marchant, Yates, Saunders and Lovell present.

After routine business the "requisition communications" were read and referred to the Supply committee. Miss Ida Carmichael wrote asking for leave of absence from May 28, in order to go to Chicago. After some discussion her request was granted, and the substitute suggested approved. Several applications for positions on the teaching staff and for promotion were tabled.

The Secretary presented the detailed statement of moneys expended since January, 1893, showing a total of $3,206 59.

TRUSTEE RICHARDS maintained that this amount should be charged against the $3,000 odd which remained at the credit of the School Board at the end of 1892.

After discussion the statement was received and placed on the minutes.

Teachers' reports showed the following attendances: Average daily, 1,671.61; actual daily, 1,650.40; actual, 1,919.

Accounts amounting to $294 39 were referred to the Finance committee to be paid if found correct.

The chairman was authorized to sign the contract with the contractors, Murray Bros., for the erection of the new addition to the Spring Ridge school at $610.

The board then took up the matter of calling for plans for the proposed new school buildings.

TRUSTEE MARCHANT thought there should be a premium for the second and third plans, but a motion to carry this into effect was negatived.

The following conditions of competition were decided upon:

"Conditions of competition for proposed new graded schools for Victoria city:

"1. Victoria architects are invited by the Victoria City Board of School Trustees to submit designs in competition for the above buildings, one or more of whom will be selected to carry out the work on the usual terms.

"2. Competitors must furnish a plan of each floor, also one elevation, one section and one perspective sketch free from trees, figures or accessories of any kind, all drawn in black ink to a scale of sixteen feet to one inch, and a short explanatory type-written report. No coloring will be allowed except on the section showing the materials proposed to be used.

"3. There must be no name or nom de plume of any sort visible on any of the drawings or other documents submitted. A sealed envelope containing the author's full name and address must accompany each set of plans submitted, which will be numbered with the drawings when they are opened.

"4. The building must each provide all the necessary accommodation for eight classes of sixty pupils each, and an assembly room capable of seating 480 pupils and 100 visitors, and a reception room with not less than 200 feet floor space. The rooms must contain not less than 240 cubic feet air space per pupil and not less than 16 square feet floor surface per pupil.

"5. The buildings must be substantially built of brick with stone basement not less than 8 feet in the clear, and slate roof, and must also be properly heated and ventilated on the most approved sanitary system.

"6. The entire cost of the work represented by the drawings and report, including architect fees, must not exceed the sum of $25 000.

"7. The proposed sites are understood to be approximately level land, without rock.

"8 The Board of Trustees reserves to itself the right, in any event, not to accept any of the designs submitted.

"9. Designs must be delivered to the Secretary of the Trustee Board (B. Williams, Esq.) not later than 20th June, 1893. Rejected designs will be returned to their respective authors."

The meeting adjourned at 10:15 subject to call of the chair.

Jeff Davis' Remains.

RICHMOND, May 10.—Arrangements for the reinterment of the remains of Jefferson Davis in Hollywood cemetery here on May 31 have been completed. On May 28 Governor Foster, in a brief address, will commit the remains to an escort on a special train which will leave New Orleans that night. The funeral train will reach Montgomery, Ala., on Monday morning and the body will be conveyed to the capitol and placed on the front portico, where Davis took the oath as President of the Confederacy. The next stop will be at Atlanta the same afternoon, where there will be a procession and possibly an address at the capitol building. A brief stop will be made at Greenville, N. C., and at Raleigh elaborate preparations are being made for a mammoth demonstration with addresses and exercises at the capitol. The train will reach here at 11 o'clock on the night of May 30, and the remains will be escorted by the military to the capitol building and lie in state till the next afternoon, when the interment will take place. Mrs. Davis and her two daughters will be present.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Corrig College Cricketers Score Another Victory—Yachting Regatta Arrangements.

Bicycle Races for the Celebration—A Strong Combination of Attractions at Nanaimo.

Yesterday, at Beacon Hill, the Corrig college cricketers met H. M. S. Champion, and a pleasant game ended in a win for Corrig. The college went first to the wickets, Prevost and Scholefield facing the bowling of Prentis and Wright. The latter was bowled by Prentis for two, but Prevost continued to trouble the bowlers for a long time by his patient play. The stand of the day was made by Field and Cartwright, who were together for three-quarters of an hour and carried the score to 65, when Field was caught, after playing splendid cricket for 32. Cartwright was bowled by Prentis after putting together 13. Kitto was the only one of the last six to give any trouble. After making eight he was unfortunately run out. Prentis bowled well throughout, and the fielding was very good.

The Champion team were unable to do much against the bowling of Goward, who took seven wickets for the small cost of ten runs, The innings closed for 28, leaving the college victorious by 51 runs.

On Saturday the college meet an eleven of the Victoria cricket club on the Caledonian grounds, and on the following Wednesday will go to Esquimalt to play the return match with H. M. S. Garnet. On Monday, May 22, an evening concert will be held in aid of the college cricket and football, in the St. James' hall, to begin at 8 p.m.

THE RIFLE.

A MATCH FOR SATURDAY.

Great interest is taken in the proposed team to be entered for Victoria for the Canadian Rifle League competitions by those not included in the five teams entered from the Battalion of Garrison Artillery. Capt. E. H. Fletcher, the organizer, has already received acceptances from more than ten good shots, so that there will be some good men in reserve when the team is chosen. A practice for the League contests is to take place at the Clover Point range on Saturday afternoon, by No. 2 Company, B.C.G.A. It is expected that all who possibly can do so will attend. The range will, of course, be open for practice to members of the other companies. This match will help in the selection of the several teams.

FOOTBALL.

A VARIED ATTRACTION.

NANAIMO, May 10.—(Special)—Five teams have entered for the Northfield Association football tournament. The ties will be played next Saturday, and the final the following Saturday. A bicycle handicap race will come off on the afternoon on which the final is played, over a course of two miles. Only district riders will be allowed to compete. Medals will be presented by the Northfield Amateur Athletic Society to the two first past the winning post.

THE WHEEL.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY RACES.

The reception committee of the Wanderers yesterday secured two very suitable rooms in the new market building to be used as wheelsmen's headquarters during the celebration. The one will be neatly and comfortably furnished; the other being reserved for "stabling" the wheels, and both being in charge of an attendant during the celebration. It is proposed to have the grand parade start from the market hall on the evening of the 23rd, during the afternoon of which day the races will be run off at Beacon Hill.

A meeting of the racing committee of the Wanderers was held last evening, when a programme of seven events was adopted, for which many good prizes will be offered. There will besides be three prizes for best decorated wheels and a prize club banner of satin and gold to be awarded the visiting club having the largest representation in the parade. The races as arranged are all open, and include the two-mile race for the Times medal. The card is as follows:—Novice race, half mile, three prizes; quarter mile dash, two prizes; five miles, three prizes; one mile, three prizes; half mile, two prizes; two miles; and fifteen miles.

THE WORLD'S RECORD DEMOLISHED.

TORONTO, May 10.—A cable was received yesterday by a local sporting goods house, stating that on Herne Hill track, London, yesterday, Vogt, the German cyclist, broke all previous records for from two to ten miles. He made the ten miles in 24 minutes 34 seconds. The best previous record for the distance was F. J. Osmond's, 24 minutes 50 1-5 seconds, made on the same track in July last.

THE OAR.

TAKING THEIR TRAINING.

The six crews of the James Bay Athletic Club are putting in steady practice for the four-oared events at the celebration regatta, and some close contests are anticipated. The junior crews will have a race between themselves a few days before the regatta to decide which of them will represent the club, as all cannot enter.

YACHTING.

GOOD SPORT ASSURED.

The committee of management of the V.Y.C. held a special meeting a few evenings ago, with Vice-Commodore Kirk presiding, when arrangements for the approaching regatta were considerably advanced. It was decided that all yachts shall be provided with lanterns and remain at anchor in barbor during the procession of boats.

Special prizes have been offered by the Mount Baker Hotel Co. for a yacht race on the 25th, the Sound yachtsmen having already engaged the greater part of the hotel for the celebration. It is also intended to have a race for the naval sailing boats, this event to be under the management of the officers of the navy.

Open races are to be under measurement rule of the N. I. Y. A., and there are to be classes for the local races as below:

Class A.—Boats over 30 feet, corrected length.

Class B.—Boats between 20 and 30 feet, corrected length.

The local race will be on the 23rd, to start at 10 a.m., from Finlayson Point. The course is thus outlined: Classes A. and B., twenty-mile triangular course, starting at Finlayson Point, thence to a buoy moored off Williams Head, then round a buoy off Trial Island and return to starting point. Boats of Class C. will sail over a twelve-mile course, Finlayson Point being the starting point. The yachts will go thence round a buoy moored in Royal Roads, from there round a buoy moored off Albert Head and back to the starting point. It is probable that the international race will be over the same course as Class A.

HERE AND THERE.

E. Miller, the hurricane half-back of the Victoria Football club, has returned from Toronto. He will make Port Townsend his home.

Walter Jordan has accepted the challenge of Good of Nanaimo to row three-quarters of a mile and repeat for $50 a side, on Monday, May 22, the place to be agreed upon.

It is understood that the Brantford Bicycle club will offer a first-class pneumatic tire machine as a special prize to be competed for during the celebration. Such a prize would be well worth winning.

A meeting of the managers of the Victoria Athletic club was held last evening, when a new secretary was appointed.

MARINE MOVEMENTS.

The Old Iroquois Bound for Her Last Port—Lumber Charter for Honolulu.

The N. P. R. steamship Victoria, Capt. Panton, takes her departure for the Orient at eight o'clock this morning, having arrived from the Sound shortly after four o'clock, yesterday afternoon. She takes as cargo 350,000 feet of lumber from this port, 1,000 tons of flour from Tacoma, and a small quantity of general freight. Out of the 360 Chinese brought from the Orient for the United States only seventy were allowed to land, the others, so-called actors for the World's Fair, who had been brought out under contract by some Chicago merchants, are being deported, their tickets not standing the test of the American custom house officers. These, with a number of Chinamen leaving Victoria and the Sound cities constitute the ship's total passenger list. Yesterday Mr. H. E. Connon, local agent for the N. P. R. Company, confirmed the report that the steamships Arizona and Alaska now running on the Guion line between Liverpool and New York would run in connection with their line of steamers between here and the Orient. At present the heavy traffic on the Atlantic detains these vessels; but it is expected that before the close of another year the company will have in operation four steamers, the Tacoma, Victoria, Alaska and Arizona. As the company depend principally upon flour to make up their vessels outward cargoes, it is said a couple of new roller mills will shortly be erected in grain growing districts in the United States. One of these will have a capacity of 100 barrels per day, while that of the other will be much greater. Victoria is also expected to contribute considerably towards supporting the line and her aid in this way will, no doubt, be materially felt before long. The business being carried on at present is fully up to the company's expectations and from now until fall their trade will be materially increased by the importations of this year's tea crop.

CLAIM AGAINST THE BLANCHARD.

The Alice Blanchard is still at Yaquina City, waiting for the Oregon Pacific's claim of $5,000 to be adjudicated by the United States authorities, says an Albany paper. The San Francisco owners decline to pay the claim, and so far have not put up the $20,000 bankable bond required to release her from the United States Marshall's hands. Their attorneys have announced a willingness to pay about $2,000.

THE IROQUOIS ARRIVES.

A dispatch from Carmanah Point yesterday announced the passage in of a three-masted (lower masts only) vessel, in tow of a steamer, and bound for Puget Sound. The tow was subsequently made out to be the old Iroquois, from San Francisco, retired from service to be used as quarantine vessel at Port Townsend.

LUMBER FOR HONOLULU.

The Hawaiian four-masted schooner Americana will finish discharging her Victoria cargo to-day, and leave for Vancouver in a few days, where the remainder of her freight will be landed. When the cargo is all out she will proceed to Burrard Inlet and load lumber for Honolulu.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Thistle, which has been chartered to tend on the Alaska boundary commission this year, was put under the shears at Spratt's wharf yesterday to receive a new smoke stack. She will not go on the ways before her departure next month, but will be beached in the North to be cleaned and painted.

Tug Mystery, after assisting the steamer Princess to tow the Government dredge down from the Fraser, sailed for Comox yesterday for coal. The dredge will, it is expected, resume operations in the harbor immediately.

Steamer Wellington, coal laden from Departure Bay for San Francisco, passed out to sea last evening.

IMPROVEMENT SYSTEM.

To the Editor:—In an article of yours published a few days ago you invited discussion on the applicability of the local improvement system for the completion of the city sewers; I therefore venture to give my opinion, and will premise my remarks by asking:

1. What compensation will be made to those who have contributed to the present sewers, and who are now to be asked to pay the entire cost of the new sewers in local areas?

2. How much less will the general rates be to those who pay directly for their own improvements than to those who do not so pay?

In my opinion the "local system" cannot be worked satisfactorily or economically for the following reasons.

1. The multiplying of small loans for various purposes on small areas will demand a higher rate of interest than a large general loan would, secured on the property of the whole city, and the smaller and more numerous the loans, the more cumbersome and expensive will be the working of the "local system."

2. The account to be kept with each person, and of every sub-division of land in every street in town, of the capital borrowed on his and its credit, the interest to be paid, the arrears in interest and the consequent sales for arrears of so many feet or inches of land, will be a laborious and costly process.

3. In the event of default in interest or rates—which is sure to be—the deficiency must be made up out of the contributions of the honest and willing ratepayers, and the Council will seek to maintain the balance by forced sales of property, which will lead to many complications and inflict much hardship.

4 Under the "local system" partiality and injustice may find a foot-hold in deciding whether certain works should be paid for out of the general revenue or under the "local system."

5. To check interested motives one system or the other must be strictly adhered to, and a definite resolution come to as to the class of works to be done under the general revenue system and under the "local one."

6 Residents in different areas can and may, under the "local system," block useful improvements for years.

7. The sewers are part of a whole or general plan, a portion of which has already been paid for out of the general revenue. Should the residents of any one block complete its sewers, and those of the next block decline to do so, where will be the usefulness or continuity in the plan? This work, above all others, must be executed as a whole, where no class can obstruct, and under one authority, independent for the time being of individual and various opinions and instructions, and the money for its purposes should be raised by a general loan.

At a time like this, when much wisdom and discretion in our councillors is a necessity, great good may result, but the reverse will follow if each insists on riding his own hobby. While necessary work like sewers should not be allowed to stand over, care must be taken not to apply the screw too severely, and the cumulative plan of taxation should be avoided as much as possible, and it is to be hoped that all such matters will be handled in a delicate and judicious manner.

W. J. Macdonald.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

To the Editor:—I am sure that I express the feelings of the majority of Victorians when I thank you for the excellent article on cruelty to animals in this morning's Colonist. In two notable instances lately, the torture of a horse and dog (the latter of which I was unfortunate enough to witness), it seemed difficult to believe that such horrors could occur unpunished in a civilized city in the nineteenth century. I think all lovers of animals will gladly hail you suggestion that an association should be formed for their protection, and a man employed whose duty it shall be to carry out this object. Should a subscription list for this purpose be opened I shall be most happy (as I am sure numbers of others will be) to assist in forwarding this work of Mercy.

THE MARKETS.

Fresh Fruits and Vegetables Make Their Appearance—The Latest Prices.

Fresh fruits and vegetables can now be seen in almost every green-grocery in town. Strawberries and cherries are for sale, although their supply so far is very limited. In the vegetable line, green peas, rhubarb, onions, table radishes, and new potatoes replenish the markets. The new potatoes, however, are not in nearly as good demand as last year's growth, which, notwithstanding the fact that several large importations have been made during the week, retain the same prices. In the grain market there have been few noteworthy changes. Oats have risen three to four dollars per ton, but flour is weak. Meats and fish of all descriptions are firm and have varied little, if any, in the standing prices. There seems to be a good supply of the latter. A new composition which Erskine, Wall & Co. are finding ready sale for is the Golden Cottolene, which is being used for cooking purposes in place of lard, and is selling at 20 cents a pound.

GAY COLORED GOWNS.

BRIGHT SPRING DAYS TEMPT THEIR OWNERS TO WEAR THEM.

The Iridescence of the Opal In the Dress Stuffs of the Day—A Costume For Mother That Can Be Worn Any Time—Sleeveless Wraps Are Very Popular.

[Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.]

The beautiful spring days bring into view the many lovely toilets that were made during Lent or that were held back until the weather grew more settled. The most noticeable of the new toilets are those made of the taffeta silks where the iridescent effects are overlaid with brocade or stripes. The stripes, where the colors are not too brilliant, make really the handsomest gowns. The other day I saw a young lady coming from church, and she wore a dress of striped changeable silk which had as many tints and broke into as many changing colors as an opal. The dress was not large around, just right and touching the ground several inches in the back. There was a bit of a ruffle around the bottom, with a round, bias milliner's fold of the silk for heading.

SPRING GOWNS AND WRAPS.

The young lady wore with this a coat of ribbed silk, black, which, by the way, is very popular just now. The coat was quite tight in the back, but it opened in front over a beaded yoke and a fall of black lace. Narrow but heavy passementerie bordered the whole coat, double revers and all. On the shoulders were two falls of lace, but there were no sleeves to the coat. The dress sleeves were of changeable but not striped silk, the colors matching those in the skirt.

Silk, no matter of what quality or weave, is always beautiful, but it has remained for these changeable effects to show its full capacities. The rich shades, the broken lines and unexpected revelations of color as the silk creases and folds, all make of the chameleon silks the ideal. One pattern I saw yesterday had in it everything, and like Cleopatra was a creation of infinite variety. It was changeable, with blue, red, orange and green colors. It was striped with a sort of dusty brown, and it had tiny brocaded epingle dots and was moire over all. Words cannot tell how beautiful it was despite the unusual admixture of colors.

Another elegant church gown for a young lady was of plain shot silk of pale blue and old gold. It was made with three straight flounces bordered and headed with hand embroidery in pale green floss silk, with conventional flower in pale blue between the leaves.

Worn with this was a novel and exceedingly tasteful wrap of black ottoman silk, with jet passementerie and black velvet revers. On the shoulders and around the hips were loops of the silk doubled and trimmed. The wrap was shaped like a basque, but sleeveless.

I have noticed a number of wraps of different shapes made sleeveless, but with a basque more or less pronounced. The style is pretty and graceful and affords a pleasing change from almost a surfeit of short military capes with butterfly collars and Austrian ruffs. Almost every one seems to have one of these capes. Let me just mention a few of the favorites. One is a stylish cloth cape with a capuchin hood and a full ruff and cord at the neck and variegated silk tassels at each point.

Then there is an all wool broadcloth in all of the newest spring shades, with the double collar, and a satin frill at the neck beautifully embroidered. These are just to the waist, and some are lined, some pinked and some hemmed and stitched, and all are pretty except the red ones.

The melton capes, with a Medici collar, are very pretty and dressy. They have feather trimming, usually closely curled peacock flues and rich jet passementerie in the front, like deep lapels. They are sometimes black, sometimes in delicate spring shades. Then there is a kersey cloth line of capes, with deep shirred derby collars, and another style where the short broadcloth cape has two others over it, all bound in fine gold lace; and still another style, French broadcloth, had a collar made of three frills of very rich ribbon, all black, the front having a deep bow and long streamers of the black ribbon.

The most of these capes were designed for young wearers—that is to say, for women who have not passed their thirties. For older women I found fewer capes. One, however, was very handsome and well adapted to the age of the prospective wearer. There was a full skirt of black camel's hair, with a bias ruffle 8 inches wide around the bottom, headed by a half-inch passementerie. The waist was draped from the shoulder to a point in front, and rows of the narrow passementerie started at the top and ended at the bottom of the point. The sleeves were plain gigot, not very pronounced. There was a military cape to be worn with this, coming a little below the waist and lined with changeable taffeta silk. There was a modest butterfly collar lined with the silk and bordered with the same narrow bead trimming, and the collar was a high turndown bordered with the passementerie.

With this was worn a bonnet of black lace, jet ornament and red haws for the day, and for evening a myrtle green velvet with a compact mass of velvet forgetmenots. For day black undressed kid gloves, for evening pearl. You see by this that an elderly woman is at liberty to wear a dress like that for almost any ordinary occasion, to church, to the theater, for calling and for carriage, as well as on the street, and there is no reason why it should not be so. The gown is costly enough, quiet and in good taste, and therefore suitable, but for receptions or dinners black or dark silk would be more elegant.

But if mamma looks best in black cashmere or silk, not so her pretty daughter, and she is at liberty to costume herself in all the colors of the rainbow and they as costly as her purse can buy. Witness the lovely daughter in a rainbow striped silk and velvet gown for the dinners, balls and receptions of the second winter. Between the rainbow velvet stripes is changeable silk with all the colors of the sunset sky as it turns from red and gold to leaden blue. Around the bottom she has a band of peacock feathers bordering each edge of a passementerie of white velvet and opal beads. The bertha and belts are of shot velvet purple and gold, which bring out the delicate fairness of the young girl, but would be fatal to a sallow woman.

A hint to young ladies about this gown. You can copy this design in the dainty zephyr ginghams or fine woolens if you so prefer, and use velutina instead of velvet for trimming and leave off the costly foot trimming, and have a gown fully as tasteful and dainty as the original. If it is to be worn in the afternoon as well as evening, it would be well to have the velutina come rather higher in the neck, leaving it V shaped front and back. I have done that myself.

PETTY ECONOMIES.

Saving That Saves and Economy That Is Not Worth the Trouble.

It may be because they are rarely accustomed to the handling of much money, and its lavish use rather frightens them—whatever the cause, it is certain that women, no matter how extravagant in some matters, are almost never wholly so. They have a few economies which they rigidly exercise. These are generally in trivial matters, regarded by their fathers and husbands and brothers as absurd, not to say niggardly. The men, too, have their pet savings. I doubt if there is a human being who, besides his favorite sin and his secret superstition, has not one single and peculiar strain of miserliness.

They are those little, constant acts of self denial, however, that the superior sex scoff at and deride. They would not walk, if overtired, to avoid a car fare, nor go without a needed lunch while shopping, nor strain their eyes in glasses that did not fit, nor wear boots that had proved uncomfortable because "they are perfectly good and it seems a shame to throw them away."

Such economies as these are mean indeed and the most arrant folly. As "the life is more than raiment," it should always be considered first. One's health and strength should be guarded and physical well being placed immeasurably above any sum of money, large or small. To save on essentials is as wrong on the one side as on the other to do what I heard a young girl, whose father was a moderately salaried clerk, once declare was her mode of procedure. "I always throw away my pennies," said she. "They're such a nuisance."

A bright paragraph the other day told the old story with a difference, of a merchant setting two boys to undo parcels and engaging him who did not carefully untie the twine and fold up the paper, "for time, nowadays, is worth more than the scrap of cord and bit of wrapping." It requires a most judicious mind to clearly see in all cases which is more important, the time spent in saving or the thing saved. When it comes to patching pillowcases and darning stockings which are as full of holes as a sieve, there is no such question. Linen and hose are alike so cheap that the hours spent in redeeming what is beyond its usefulness might be better employed in a hundred clamorous ways.

Time is worth a great deal in this era of all improvement, and just there comes the point for due consideration. If by the many littles which "make a mickle" some tangible good can be secured, she is most efficient and praiseworthy who seizes the opportunity. "What a pretty little coat you have, Nanny!" exclaimed a lady to a tiny child making a formal call with her mother. The latter was not overwhelmed with joy at the piping reply, "Yes, and it's made out of papa's old trousers." There was room for honest pride instead of embarrassment, for it was "a pretty little coat" and wore well and served every purpose in spite of its unpromising genesis.

Every Lady in the Dominion should have one:

Every lady in the Dominion should have a MELISSA wrap of some style. Costing only a trifle (about $1.50) more than ordinary wraps of similar material, they are at once the most useful and the most economical garments of the present day, because they are really two in one, being a rainproof garment as well as a stylish and comfortable wrap.

MELISSA wraps should not be classed with ordinary waterproofs. They are made up in all the latest styles, out of fine soft woolen materials (rendered thoroughly rainproof by the MELISSA process); beautifully finished, and they fit to perfection, as only tailor made garments can.

Many ladies have written us asking for information, patterns, etc., etc., but as we do a strictly wholesale manufacturing business, we cannot in justice to our many customers, sell directly to anyone not in trade. Desiring, however, to give all information possible and place our MELISSA wraps within easy reach of every lady in the country, we invite direct correspondence and will, on receipt of a letter from any lady, giving the name and address of the merchant with whom she deals, at once send that dealer a full range of our patterns, catalogues of designs and other necessary information.

If there is no good local dealer that will take the trouble to serve her in the way we suggest, we will place her in communication with one of our most reliable customers in some other place, who we can guarantee will be only too glad to give her every possible attention.

Departure of the British Squadron.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The British squadron weighed anchor at 11:45 a.m. and, with the Blake in the lead, slowly steamed down between two lines of warships in the Hudson and proceeded to sea. Crowds of people gathered on shore to see the popular Britishers off. The Blake was followed closely by the Australia, with the Magicienne next and the Tartar last. None of the men-of-war fired salutes. There was the customary dipping of flags, and the crews of the other vessels lined the bulwarks and waved them good-bye. Before the fleet sailed, Admiral Hopkins sent a letter to Mayor Gilroy, expressing thanks for the courtesy and hospitality extended to him and his command by the citizens of New York during their stay there.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

New Schedule of Water Rates—Sewer Connections—Sunday Music Asked For.

The weekly regular meeting of the City Council was held last evening, Mayor Beaven in the chair and the members all present.

By-laws increasing the aldermens' indemnity and changing the night for regular meetings from Wednesday to Monday were formally passed.

The Special committee report recommending an appropriation of $60 towards the cost of receiving the Canadian Western Press Association was adopted.

The special committee, appointed to examine into and report upon the affairs of the Victoria and Sidney Railway company, transmitted to the Council a report upon the road made by Mr. Wilmot, the City Engineer, and asked further time to prepare their own report.

Engineer Wilmot's report stated that he estimated the cost of completing the road at $297,950, exclusive of the right of way. He found that the specifications provided for embankments twelve feet wide and cuttings fourteen feet wide; these dimensions were less than usual, but as the embankments would be toward the cuttings shallow this might not injuriously affect the work. The length of the ties, seven feet, also was a foot less than customary. The 50 lb. rail it was proposed to use was lighter than usual, but it might be suited for the purposes for which it was intended and sufficiently strong for the work required. A certificate from Mr. Gray, the engineer of the road, was attached, to the effect that the construction work had been commenced within the time required by the by-law. A list of the shareholers in the railway company was attached, this list being dated April 2, 1893, and being as follows: P. C. Dunlevy, 10; Julius Brethour, 10; M. H. Cowan, 10; Robert Irving, 10; W. J. Macaulay, 10; the Saanish Land Co., Ltd, 1,200; total, 1,250 shares of $100 each. The tenders received by the company for the construction of the road were also attached. They were: Thomas W. Patterson, $285,000; Alex. McBean, $289,000; Henry Croft, $304,000.

ALD. MILLER said with respect to the list of shareholders, the statement had been published that the five gentlemen whose names were mentioned had been bought out by a Mr. Patterson, and he thought it would be worth while for the council to inquire if it was Mr. Patterson who was entering into a contract to do work for the same Mr. Patterson.

ALD. BELYEA moved that the report be laid upon the table. He knew, he said, that the interest of the Saanich Land company, whoever they might be, had been bought out, and that the charter of the road had passed quite out of the hands of the former owners.

ALD. STYLES thought the Council ought to know just who this railway company was composed of, or if there was any such company.

ALD. MCKILLICAN said the stock books contained no other names than those which had been read, and until the stock books were altered the committee could not get the names of the new owners, as they did not feel like giving them. The committee, therefore, wished to delay making their report until they could get this information.

The communication was, after further consideration, laid on the table.

The report received from the Sewerage committee was again taken up.

The Mayor having expressed a doubt as the clause relative to making house connections with the sewers,

ALD. BELYEA explained that the intention was to have these branch sewers put in when the mains were laid, but that the cost of each branch was to be paid by the property owner.

ALD. MCKILLICAN thought steps should be taken to compel all persons along the line of the sewers already laid to make their connections.

THE MAYOR said that without doubt the Corporation had the power to compel every house to be connected with the sewers, but this power should be exercised with discretion, as the cost of making the connections would in some instances be so great as to be a hardship to the owners. However, in the business portion of the city there should be no exceptions made, and the warm weather coming on it was important that this should be done without delay. It was foolish to go on laying mains where there were already miles of sewers in the streets without house connections.

ALD. HENDERSON thought the city should take action at once to compel owners to make the connections, in order to abate the nuisance which was every day complained of.

ALD. BAKER agreed that connections should be at once made. He thought Mr. Young had a letter in now complaining of the nuisance caused by his neighbors through having no sewer connection.

THE MAYOR suggested that the whole Council should confer as a committee with the engineer on the question of the hour, which was to have every building in the city connected with the sewers.

On motion of Ald. McKillican this suggestion was adopted, and the Engineer will be asked to meet the Council in executive session at 3:30 this afternoon.

The special committee on the recomendation of the Health Officer, that the buildings 23, 25, 27 and 29 Fisgard street should be pulled down, being a nuisance and a danger to the public health, reported in favor of the recommendation. A resolution authorizing the demolition will be introduced.

ALD. MUNN inquired if anything had been done by the special committee on the matter of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster railway.

ALD. BELYEA said he, as a member of the committee, had spoken to one of the promoters of the railway, who informed him that they would be in a position in a short time to confer with the committee.

The Clerk was authorized to affix the seal of the corporation to the contract with W. C. Burns for the erection of the new police barracks.

A letter from the Secretary of the School Board complained of the inconvenience caused by the overcrowded condition of the James Bay and Spring Ridge schools, and asked that the proposed by-law to raise funds for building new schools be put to the popular vote as soon as possible. Received and filed.

A letter from Hon. A. DeCosmos alleged that there existed on the property of his neighbor, F. G. Richards, a cesspool which was a nuisance, and of which Sanitary Officer Chipchase had knowledge. Referred to sanitary inspector.

M. & L. Young made complaint of a nuisance on the property adjoining their premises on Government street. Referred to sanitary inspector.

"That the total water works revenue derivable for the year will be about $67,357, an increase of about $12,000 over last year.

"Two methods for rating houses are submitted, the first for levying a rate in proportion to the size of the house, and the second a fixed rate per house, the latter of which would give a revenue larger than that now obtained, and would adjust the cost more equitably among consumers. These are the proposed rates:

"Where a four-inch pipe is laid in any street 6c. per foot frontage per annum on vacant lots; and 4c. per foot frontage on other than vacant lots.

"The following monthly rates for houses occupied by a single family, and public or private buildings (not including water for baths, water closets, urinals, or for uses outside of the buildings, covering an area of—

"In the schedule the intervening dimensions are also stated, and rated in the proportions of those given.

"For houses of one story, covering more than 4,000 square feet, 10c. for each 250 square feet; for two stories 25 per cent., for three stories 50 per cent., and for four stories and upwards 75 per cent., to be added to the rate for one story. "Hose for irrigating lawns, gardens, or grounds, per month, 50 cents, or in lieu of above one cent per 100 square feet, provided that no monthly charge will be less than 25 cents. In lieu of other rates, water may be supplied by meter at 20 cents per 1,000 gallons."

The report was laid on the table, to be considered at a special executive session.

The Building Inspector reported that the Phœnix grocery building on Fisgard street had been damaged by fire to an extent greater than half its original value, and should be pulled down.

ALD. MUNN moved, seconded by Ald. Belyea, that the offer of Lt.-Col. Holmes to allow "C" Battery band to play on Beacon Hill park and in the Market building on Saturdays be accepted, and the thanks of the Council be conveyed to Col. Holmes.

A letter from the Ministerial Association was read, transmitting a resolution protesting against band playing being countenanced in the park on the Lord's day.

After a prolonged discussion on the Sabbath observance question, Ald. Miller commended the proposition to have Saturday night concerts as possible causes of very desirable results to those attending. He moved in amendment that Col. Holmes be thanked for his kind offer, but that he be requested to allow the band to play in the park twice on Saturday afternoons and twice on Sunday afternoons in each month.

THE MAYOR reminded the board that the park was not the property of the corporation, but had been only put into their hands to govern for the benefit of the citizens. He thought that to introduce Sunday music there, when it was known that such a large proportion of the people were opposed to it on grounds of religious conviction, would be to invite an agitation to take the park out of the management of the corporation altogether.

After considerable discussion Ald. Miller's amendment carried. Yeas—Ald. Baker, McTavish, Henderson, Miller and Styles—5; nays—Ald. McKillican, Belyea and Munn—3.

The council adjourned at 11:30 p.m.

Spain at Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Members of the diplomatic corps in Washington expect that in the course of a few months the Spanish government will elevate the legation in Washington to the grade of an embassay, with a corresponding promotion of rank to the incumbent. A gentleman who occupies a high official position, speaking of the rumor connecting the Duke of Veragua, said: "His appointment would be most satisfactory, and under the present conditions most appropriate. The duke has met many people in this country in the course of his visit here, and he would be warmly welcomed should he come in an official capacity to the United States.. There is nothing improbable in the report that I can see. The duke is a member of the Liberal party, now in the ascendency of Spanish politics. He is a friend of Sagiastas, the Prime Minister. He is in possession of sufficient wealth to enable him to maintain the embassy in a fitting manner. Altogether the conditions seem to combine in his favor and mark him as the man for the occasion."

Bank Suspension.

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 10.—The Bank of Santa Clara, at Santa Clara, has suspended. There are many rumors regarding the cause of the failure. Wood, who has been cashier of the bank for fifteen years, died a few days ago. Whether he was the cause of the shortage of $70 000, which is said to have precipitated the crash, or whether land speculations by the management was the cause is not known. An expert is at work on the books. There are reports that the stockholders will lose $200,000.

Real Estate Man's Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—W. I. Morgan, a prominent real estate agent, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart this afternoon. Business troubles are supposed to be the cause. He was 47 years old, and leaves a widow and child. The deceased came to this state from St. Louis about nine years ago. For several years after his arrival in San Francisco he was in the insurance business, but four years since opened a real estate office. He did a prosperous business. Recently he organized the company that purchased Bellevidere townsite, in Marine county, and owned a controlling interest in the company, of which he was president.

KASLO

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Growth of KASLO this year has been unprecedented in the history of British Columbia.

In one year the Forest Growth has been replaced by streets lined with substantial buildings.

The population has increased in one year from 300 to 3,000, and is being added to at the rate of nearly 100 per day.

The immediate construction of the KASLO - SLOCAN RAILROAD will cause development that will increase the population this year to twice 3,000.

It is the supply point and outlet for the now famous mines of the Slocan, ore from which has been shipped via Kaslo all winter.
